Floods, Wind, Snow Hit Various Areas

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov 22—The elements put the nation in various [illegible] yesterday. Floods and high [illegible] struck the South. Rain and snow plagued many areas.

At least five persons were killed in automobile accidents attributed to the weather. Another was missing.

Rain-swollen rivers left their banks in three southern states—Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee. Hundreds of persons were forced to flee their homes. Property and crop damage was estimated in hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Four Negroes were injured in a windstorm which hit Fort Davis, near Tuskegee, Ala. A brief snowstorm struck parts of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas and then moved southeastwards, with the snow changed to rain or slush and strong winds diminishing.

Three died in Georgia and Alabama highway accidents, and another person was missing. Two were killed on a slippery highway in Pennsylvania.

Where Floods Started

Southern floodwaters originated in northern sections of Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee.

Many roads were inundated. Near Montgomery, Ala. 335 convicts were evacuated from a prison farm to the Kilby state prison nearby, when the Tallapoosa river rose. Homes were evacuated in scattered floods around Birming-

Pupils Learn Safe Driving in High School Class

Course Is No Snap But Many Wait To Enroll

By SCOTT McMURRAY

Many's the time you've called a few terse words from the back of your vocabulary to condemn to a special punishment some particularly asinine driver who threatened your progress on the highway.

Refrain from this dubious, though satisfying, practice in the future. He probably did what made you angry because he never went to high school, and if he did he didn't learn to drive there.

All that is changed now, as you may see most any day as you motor along most any street of Marion's residential East Side where the Harding High school drivers class is in session five afternoon a week.

Twenty-four serious minded boys and girls form the enthusiastic class taking driving training under J H Smith Harding High school's first driving instructor.

Most girl students are taking the course to learn to operate the family car on their own at some future date. Most boy students, on the other hand, indicate they are taking the motoring course in line with an ambition to enter the cavalcade of the American trucking industry, first as drivers and later as truck and fleet owners.

In order to take the driving course a student must have his or her parents written consent, possess a temporary driving permit and be not less than 16 years of age.

Experienced Teacher

J H Smith, Harding High school physics teacher who heads the instruction staff, is a motorist of 35 years' experience. He is as enthusiastic about the course as his students. The purpose of the course as Mr Smith sees it is this: "The primary purpose is to teach each student to be a good driver. Each good driver should know his car and the basic theory of cars in general. He should know how to drive in city traffic and on the open highway, being a sportsman with other drivers, observing road courtesy to other motorists, and having a proper regard for pedestrians both along the country byway and in the crush and bustle of the city crosswalk."

Mr Smith's course designed to produce good drivers requires 18 weeks to complete. His two dozen students spend a total 60 hours each taking instruction in the classroom and behind the wheel of a dual-controlled training car which constitutes the laboratory of the course. Thirty-six hours of the 60-hour course are spent in classroom instruction and 24 hours behind the wheel of the training car. Each student attends three class recitation periods and two on the road laboratory periods during each five-day school week.

Takes Special Course

Not content with a third of a century of driving experience, dating back to the hand crank days when cars had no doors to protect the front seat, Mr. Smith last summer completed the famed concentrated course of driving instructors offered by Cleveland College in cooperation with the Cleveland Auto club, the Ohio Auto club and the American Automobile association. Taking this special summer course, on his own time, in August of this year, Mr. Smith received instruction under such safe motoring experts as Norman Key, of Wasnington, D. C., educational director of the American Automobile association, and Charles Vibberts of Columbus, secretary of the Ohio State branch of AAA, who assisted in giving the driving instructors their final examinations. This one-week training course was taken on the Cleveland Auto club driving course on the shores of Lake Erie. Upon completion of the Cleveland college course Mr Smith was graduated as a driving instructor and so accredited by state educational authorities.

Any student who suddenly takes a notion he wants to take the Harding High driving course just for a lark or as a means of getting an easy high school credit in science is in for a rude awakening. The course is far from easy and a seasoned motorist with 20 years' experience on the road would find himself "flunking" the technical and written examinations for the course with astonishing regularity if he depended only on his experience to get through the training.

Technical instruction in the course includes lectures, still and motion pictures, and on the spot demonstrations and instructions familiarizing the student with every part of the automobile, of which their dual control training

Dock Workers Back on Jobs

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov 29 — East coast docks hummed with activity today after a paralyzing 18-day strike of longshoremen.

New York's waterfront resounded to the familiar clatter of pier trucks and escalators yesterday as 2,200 men reported for Sunday work following settlement of the strike.

And a union chief said all 45,000 longshoremen and 20,000 clerks and checkers would be working today in ports from Maine to Virginia.

Joseph P Ryan, president of the AFL International Longshoremen's association, also predicted "peace along the waterfront for a long time to come."

There were new prospects of peace on the strike-bound Pacific coast also.

LIMA MAN CHARGED WITH MURDER AGAIN

By The Associated Press

LIMA, O., Nov. 29 — Richard B. Snyder, 26, was charged with first degree murder today for the second time in the stabbing of his wife Eloise, also 26.

Stabbed through the heart, Mrs Snyder's body was found in the family car in West Lima last August 30. Snyder was arrested Sept 1 and charged with first degree murder.

However, the Allen county grand jury failed to return an indictment against him when it met Oct 28. Snyder maintained he last saw his wife alive the night of Aug 29 when they separated to attend separate movies.

Carl H McMullen, father of the dead woman, signed the affidavit in the second arrest. Snyder pleaded innocent in municipal court Saturday and preliminary hearing was set for Dec. 3.

Petrillo Tiff Forgotten Now

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 — James Caesar Petrillo, whom President Truman and the congress almost put in jail, turned up today as the top master of the January inaugural ceremonies.

He has been named musical chairman for Mr Truman's inauguration. The American Federation of Musicians chief Petrillo as president was sponsor the gala concert planned for the night before the President takes the oath.

Inaugural committee chairman Melvin D. Hildreth announced Petrillo's selection to provide the music to which jubilant Democrats will celebrate next January. Hildreth probably figured Petrillo owas a bargain because the music is pretty sure to be on the cuff.

The troubles of Petrillo with the government go back some years ago when he began exercising the almost unlimited powers of his office with a series of orders which had the force of law among musicians in the United States and Canada. At one time or another he forbade the broadcasting of music played by student-amateurs and military bands and demanded that broadcasting stations hire musicians whom they did not need and who would never toot a note for the pay they received.

RECOUNT GIVES HINKLIN MARGIN OF 207 VOTES

Burton Makes Net Gain of 7 Ballots in Check of All Precincts.

[illegible] R Burton [illegible] of County Treasurer by 20 votes as a result of final canvass and recount conducted Saturday by the Marion county board of elections.

Burton gained a net of seven votes in the recount which went through all 55 precincts in the county.

Final tally gave Hinklin 9,750 votes to Burton's 9,543.

The recount turned up many discrepancies, the votes of which 55 had been cast for Hinklin and 62 for Burton.

Actually there was but a ten vote difference in the margin by which Hinklin was returned to office for his third term from first totals recorded election night and the final recount total.

Change in Figures

Election night figures gave Hinklin 9,669 to Burton's 9,452 for a 217 vote margin. The official tally completed several days later showed totals of 9,695 against 9,481, reducing Hinklin's margin to 214 votes. Final tally shows 9,750 to 9,543 and a margin of 207.

The recount showed the vote unchanged in only six out of the 55 precincts. They were Precinct A of the Third ward in the city and Claridon Township North, Claridon Township South, Grand Prairie Township, Pleasant Township North and Prospect Township South.

In five precincts, three of which were in the city, there was enough change in totals to nullify the $5 a precinct charge for the recount. If a change amounting to more than four percent of the vote is found, that particular precinct is not charged for.

The five not charged for were 1-B, 2-E and 6-E in Marion and Montgomery Township and Prospect Township North.

The largest error was found in 1-B. Official count gave Burton and Hinklin 235 votes each while the recount showed 262 for Burton and 230 for Hinklin. Other changes showed up as follows: 2-E, official tally Burton 265, Hinklin 136, recount Burton 274 and Hinklin 133, 6-E official tally Burton 210, Hinklin 241, recount Burton 216, Hinklin, 250, Montgomery Township, official count, Burton, 81 Hinklin 90 recount, Burton 82, Hinklin 98, Prospect North, official count Burton 112, Hinklin 132 recount Burton 119 and Hinklin 134.

Few Errors Found

In the remaining precincts, the vote change ran anywhere from a single to three or four votes either way with election board checkers finding an additional vote or two which added up to the 117 total found in the 55 precincts.

The recount cost $250, figured at $5 a precinct for the 50 charged for. The Marion county general fund benefited $240 inasmuch as two members of the staff of checkers, Mrs Nora Keller and Mrs Cora Reed, both were available for the Saturday afternoon trade. Several of the workers found a few of the last 15 precincts were recounted.

The gain, a relatively small one, was derived from a net of 22 votes in the end of 26 precincts to be 16 at the end of 40. Burton played the string out to the end in what was a virtually unprecedented recount in county election history.

Both Burton and the county treasurer were present for the major part of the time during the two and a half days it took to complete the recount, despite the fact that at the end of the second day the ultimate outcome was virtually certain.

Reds Lose Ground In British Zone Elections

By The Associated Press

HAMBURG, GERMANY, Nov. 29—Communists lost votes in Lower Saxony's communal elections yesterday, final returns showed today.

The trend was the same as in the other British zone states of Rhine-Westphalia and Schleswig Holstein.

The Communists polled only 3 per cent of the votes in Lower Saxony compared to 5.1 per cent in 1946. The principal political parties held their relative positions.

The Social Democrats, who are left of center, gathered 3,071,982 ballots or 39 per cent, to place first.

PLANT HIT BY NEW VIOLENCE

Columbus Picket Arrested and Charged with Throwing Brick at Auto.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Nov. 29. Violence once more struck the picket line at the strike-bound American Zinc Oxide Co. plant today.

Sheriff Deputies John McPerson and Joseph Shannon reported a picket threw a brick through the window of an automobile plant helper James Campbell tried to drive through a plant gate.

They said Rossie Younger, 30, Columbus, was arrested and charged with malicious destruction of property in the court of Justice of the Peace Hubert Brown.

Justice Brown ordered Younger held in Franklin county jail. Younger asked delay in arraignment so he could get a lawyer.

Reports Attack on Home

Another plant worker, Joseph Collier of Columbus, reported some one threw a brick through the front door of his home last night.

Younger and Ralph Locke of Cleveland, international representative of the CIO Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers union, said Campbell's car window was broken accidentally when Younger was unable to get out of the way of the approaching machine.

Campbell was not injured.

Locke said a picket, Leroy Prysock, was "skinned up" in the gate scuffle that accompanied the Campbell incident.

About 30 deputies were called to the plant after the affair.

TRAIN HITS CAR AT CROSSING ON N. MAIN ST.

Fostoria and Tiffin Residents in City Hospital; Two Critical.

Five Fostoria and Tiffin residents were seriously injured when their car was hit by a train on the North Main street Erie railroad crossing at 6:25 p m last night.

City police and highway patrolmen reported an accident toll of seven persons injured in 14 other accidents in the Marion area over the weekend. Rural and city accidents were evenly divided with six injuries in eight accidents reported for each.

Tiffin and Fostoria Residents Hurt Here

Five persons were seriously injured at 6:25 last night when their car was hit by a train at the Erie crossing on North Main street. All five are in City hospital today.

The injured are Early Woodrow Shinn, 29, of Fostoria, driver of the car, condition "serious." Mrs Norma Shinn, 19, his wife condition "critical." Darrel Shinn, 19 of near Tiffin, condition "critical." Virgil Sayre, 27, of near Tiffin, condition "fair," and his wife, Mrs Naomi Sayre, 22, condition "fair."

Police investigators said Mr. Shinn drove in front of the train despite the crossing watchman's signals.

Witnesses told police the Shinn car had no more than reached the center of the crossing until the locomotive of a westbound Erie freight train hit it.

The train hit Shinn's car with such an impact that it dragged the car, a 1941 sedan, to the first alley west of Main street. Here Darrel Shinn was thrown from the car and under the train. Police had to call a wreck truck to move the car and to get him out to be placed in an ambulance. The car was demolished.

Watchman on Duty

When the Shinn car approached the crossing just before the crash witnesses report Manley Gettys, of 225 West Fairground street, crossing watchman on duty was standing in the middle of the street waving one white lantern and one red lantern and blowing his whistle to warn of the train's approach. An unidentified car was stopped south of the crossing on the outside lane on Main street and a car occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fetter of Prospect stopped in the outside lane behind it.

Witnesses say the Shinn car passed the two stopped cars on the inside lane drove onto the crossing in front of the train. Witnesses told police if the Shinn car had not been hit by the train they believed it would have struck the crossing watchman.

A car driven by Mrs Paul Mackaman, which was waiting in the southbound inside lane north of the crossing for the train to pass was not damaged when the train hit the Shinn car.

Nature of Injuries

Hospital attendants today reported the injuries of the accident victims as follows: Early Woodrow Shinn, the driver, is in a serious condition with lacerations of the face, and a possible fractured skull.

Mrs Norma Shinn, his wife who was riding in the middle of the front seat, is in a critical condition with a skull fracture and lacerations of both legs.

Darrel Shinn, who was riding on the right side of the front seat next to Mrs Shinn is in a critical condition with a skull fracture and severe lacerations of the face.

Virgil Sayre who was riding on the left side of the rear seat of the car is in a "fair condition" with a fractured arm, concussion, lacerations of the face, and possible internal injuries. Police reported Sayre as the only person in the car who was conscious when they arrived and able to give an account of what happened.

Condition "Fair"

Mrs Naomi Sayre, wife of Virgil, was reported as being in a "fair" condition by hospital attendants. She was riding on the right side of the rear seat of the 20. Germans Attack in the Ardennes.

ON DECEMBER 16, 1944, General Bradley came to my headquarters to discuss ways and means of overcoming our acute shortages in infantry replacements. Just as he entered my office a staff officer came in to report slight penetrations of our lines in the front of General Middleton's VIII Corps and the right of General Gerow's V Corps in the Ardennes region. The staff officer located the position on my battle map, and Bradley and I discussed the probable meaning.

I was immediately convinced that this was no local attack. It was not logical for the enemy to attempt merely a minor offensive in the Ardennes, unless of course it should be a feint to attract our attention while he launched a major effort elsewhere. This possibility we ruled out. On other portions of the front either we were so strong that the Germans could not hope to attack successfully, or there was a lack of major objectives that he could reasonably hope to attain.

• • •

IT WAS THROUGH this same region that the Germans launched their great attack of 1940 which drove the British forces from the Continent, and France out of the war. That first attack was led by the same commander we were now facing, Von Rundstedt. It was possible that he hoped to repeat his successes of more than four years earlier. We had always been convinced that before the Germans acknowledged final defeat in the west they would attempt one desperate counter-offensive. It seemed likely to Bradley and me that they were now starting this kind of attack.

We called a number of the SHAEF staff into our conference room; among them were Air Chief Marshall Tedder, and Generals Smith, Bull, and Strong. The operational maps before us showed that on each flank of the Ardennes the bulk of a United States armored division was out of the front lines and could be moved quickly. On the north was the 7th Armored Division commanded by Major General Robert W. Hasbrouck. In Patton's army on the south was the 10th Armored Division under Major General William H. Morris, Jr.

We agreed that these two divisions should immediately begin to close in toward the threatened area, the exact destination of each to be determined later by Bradley. This meant postponement of preparations for the attack in the Saar and we knew that General Patton would protest. His heart was set on the new offensive, which he thought would gain great results.

But to Bradley and me there now appeared to be developing the very situation that we had felt justified in challenging because of the location of our concentrations on the flank of the weak Ardennes front. We had always felt the risk to be justified by the conviction that in emergency we could react swiftly. The critical moment, in our judgment, was now upon us. In addition to directing these preliminary moves Bradley alerted all army commanders in this group to be ready to provide additional units for the battle that he expected to develop.

WE WENT OVER, again, the limit of the penetration that we could, if necessary, permit in that region without irretrievable damage to ourselves. This line covered the cities of Luxembourg and Sedan on the south, followed the Meuse River on the west, and covered Liege on the north. Farther back than this we would not go, and we would of course stop the enemy earlier if possible.

One factor that caused us a special concern, even anxiety, was the weather. For some days our great air force had been grounded because of clouds and impenetrable fog. The air force was one of our greatest assets, and now, until the weather improved, it was practically useless. As long as the weather kept our planes on the ground it would be an ally of the enemy worth many additional divisions.

The morning of December 17 it became clear that the German attack was in great strength. Two gaps were torn through our line, one on the front of the 106th Division, the other on the front of the 28th. Reports were confusing and exact information was meager, but it was clear that the enemy was employing considerable armor and was progressing rapidly to the westward.

In two important points the enemy had gained definite surprise. The first of these was in timing. In view of the terrible defeats we had inflicted upon him during the late summer and fall, and of the extraordinary measures he had been compelled to undertake in raising new forces, we had believed that he could not be ready for a major assault as early as he was. The other point in which he surprised us was the strength of the attack.

• • •

IN THE NORTH the critical region was near Monschau, an area over which Gerow's American V Corps of the First Army was attacking toward the Ruer dams at the moment the German offensive began. In Gerow's corps the veteran 2d Division under General Robertson and the new 99th Division under Major General Walter E. Lauer were initially struck by the German attack.

The 99th was rapidly forced back in confusion. The 2d Division met the issue with great skill and determination and during the ensuing three days fought one of the brilliant divisional actions of the war in Europe.

The German threw heavy attacks against the division but the Americans stubbornly refused to give way. It is doubtful, however, that the 2d Division could have held out alone throughout the thirty-six hours before reinforcements reached its vicinity except for the courageous action of the 7th Armored Division at St. Vith. Its battle at St. Vith not only divided the German effort in the north but prevented quick encirclement of the Monschau position.

The great stand of the division had not only badly upset the timetable of the German spearheads its gallant action had been most helpful to the 2d Division at the vitally important Monschau shoulder until the 1st Division under Brigadier General Clift Andrus, and the 9th, under Major General Louis A. Craig, came up to its support. Thereafter, with these three proved and battle-tested units holding the position, the safety of our northern shoulder was practically a certainty.

• • •

THE GERMANS' ADVANCE, in spite of his failure at Monschau, was very rapid through the center of the break-through. As the advance continued it gradually began swinging to the north and northwest, and it was evident that the enemy's objective lay in that direction. We believed that his first purpose would be the capture of Liege. We reasoned that even if he had the more ambitious objective of Antwerp he would have to depend partially upon supplies he might capture at Liege.

So we were particularly careful about Liege, where there were vast quantities of every kind of vital supplies, including fuel and food. However, we were determined that the enemy would be stopped short of that point, and in the outcome he never got close to Liege.

On the seventeenth Bradley ordered the XVIII Airborne Corps from reserve to the front with Bastogne its original destination. General Middleton, then in Bastogne, saw the great importance of the spot and urged preparation to hold it. He conferred with Bradley by telephone, and although he stated that the place could soon be surrounded, recommended that it be held. It became necessary to divert the 82d Airborne Division to the north toward Stavelot, so the 101st, with detachments of the VIII Corps became the defenders of Bastogne.

Developments were closely examined and analyzed all during Dec. 17 and 18. By the night of the eighteenth I felt we had sufficient information of the enemy's strength, intentions, and situation, and of our own capabilities, to lay down a specific plan for our counter-action. On the early morning of Dec. 9, accompanied by Air Chief Marshal Tedder and a small group of staff officers, I went to Verdun, where Generals Bradley, Patton, and Devers had been ordered to meet me.

• • •

AS THE CONFERENCE started, with every one around a long table, I remarked: "The present situation is to be regarded as one of opportunity for us and not of disaster. There will be only cheerful faces at this conference table." True to his impulsive nature, General Patton broke out with, "Hell, let's have the guts to let the —— — —— go all the way to Paris. Then we'll really cut 'em off and chew 'em up." Every one, including Patton, smiled at this one, but I replied that the enemy would never be allowed to cross the Meuse.

It was arranged for Patton to concentrate his attacking corps of at least three divisions in the general vicinity of Arlon and from that point to begin the advance toward Bastogne. I personally [illegible] the attack and [illegible] the attack [illegible] of the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Police Puzzled By Woman's Crash Death

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Nov. 28. Police were puzzled today by the death of a 71-year-old woman—who could not drive—in the wreck of an automobile in which she was sitting alone.

Capt. Guy York highway safety superintendent said an investigation had produced no explanation.

The woman, Mrs. Margaret Linderman, was left in the car by her husband, Edward A. Linderman, when the battery failed Saturday night. He walked eight blocks for help and was returning with a patrolman when they came upon the wreck of his car against a tree.

York said the car was in high gear. The only theory police said was that a passing motorist had given the car a push and started it down hill.

Debate on Which Post-Season Game Is Best Expected To Wax Hot.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov 29—With scattered exceptions the bowls could start printing programs today and begin bragging about who is going to serve the best football game.

The debate over the outstanding post-season attractions is sure to wax a bit hotter than usual because six of the 10 top teams in last week's next to the last Associated Press poll are squared off in three of the annual fixtures.

The Sugar Bowl at New Orleans might be excused for puffing out its chest a little farther than the others because it landed the No. 4 team, North Carolina, and the No 6, Oklahoma, the Big Seven champion.

The pairs of the Jan 1 extravaganzas — the Rose at Pasadena—counters with one of the two unblemished powers in bowl action, fifth-ranked California, and Northwestern, No 7.

The Cotton bowl at Dallas matches Southern Methodist university, No. 8 in the last AP poll, and Oregon, No 10.

A seventh member of the select bracket — ninth-ranked Clemson, also unbeaten and untied — will meet Missouri in the Gator bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.

Georgia Gets Bid

Miami's Orange bowl reached down to pick Georgia from the No. 12 spot. Sponsors haven't named an opponent yet but are expected today to give the nod to Texas, whose record of seven victories, two defeats and one tie has failed to bring it into the first 20 teams.

Dana X. Bible, athletic director of the Longhorns, acknowledged that Texas was being considered for the Miami bid and he left little doubt about the team's acceptance.

The national championship aspects have been removed from the bowl events, so the boys and go ahead and argue it out.

Michigan, the No. 1 team in the nation, can't compete under a Western conference ruling forbidding return trips to Pasadena. Notre Dame, No. 2 and Army, No. 3, traditionally shun the extracurricular activity.

The Wolverines finished their campaign without tarnish, extending a two-year winning streak. Notre Dame is expected to do likewise Saturday in its finale against Southern California.

Army had its perfect season spoiled in the annual service game spectacle at Philadelphia Saturday by a battered Navy team that sledge-hammered its way to a 21-21 draw.

Moral Victory

This was one of the football shockers of all time—a first slipup for the West Pointers, whose precisionist platoons had stormed all opposition, and a moral victory for the lowly Midshipmen, who had lost 13 straight.

Notre Dame and Clemson scored triumphs to keep their slates clean. The opportunist Irish, converting fumbles into touchdowns, stormed over Washington, 46-0. Clemson tripped Auburn, 7-6, and now must play The Citadel.

Orange-bowl-bound Georgia clinched the Southeastern conference crown by humbling its state rival, Georgia Tech, 21-13. Tulane topped Louisiana State, 46-0, and Mississippi trimmed Mississippi State, 34-7, for runnerup honors. Vanderbilt, which grew in strength as the season progressed, finished a successful year by trouncing Tennessee, 28-6.

The Sugar bowl rivals won their season finales to carry almost similar records into the New Orleans clash. North Carolina defeated Virginia, 34-12, to wind up with nine victories and a tie. Oklahoma squeezed past Oklahoma A and M, 19-15, to finish with nine triumphs and a single defeat.

The Oklahoma Aggies were named to play William and Mary in the Delta bowl at Memphis. W and M won over Arkansas, 7-0.

In an intersectional [illegible] Penn State barely edged out Washington State, 7-0.

Other results included Alabama 34, Florida 28, Boston College 21, Holy Cross 20; Fordham 28, New York U. 20, Texas Tech 28, Hardin Simmons 20; Villanova 21, N C State 7, Detroit 26, Tulsa 22, Arizona 24, Marquette 14.

Cleveland Browns, Eagles Clinch Divisional Honors

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK Nov 29 — Hist of the professional football scramble was unscrambled today, with the Cleveland Browns and Philadelphia Eagles clinching divisional honors in their respective leagues.

The pulsating Browns came from behind yesterday to whip the San Francisco 49ers, 31-28, and nab honors for the third straight year in the All-America conference Western division.

Philadelphia, meanwhile, stowed away the National league's Eastern division title for the second season in a row by blanking the Pittsburgh Steelers, 17-0.

Can Coast Through

The Eagles and Brownies now can coast through their remaining games and wait for the other half of their circuit to bring out a challenger for the championship in the rival loops.

Two clubs in the AAC Eastern race and two in the National league's Western division have a chance, and one scrap may be settled next Sunday at Baltimore.

The Buffalo Bills, leading the AAC Eastern division by one game, can win the dubious honor of meeting Cleveland in the AAC championship playoff by beating the Baltimore Colts. If the Colts win, it would throw the race into a tie, and a playoff game would be required to determine the team to play the Browns. Buffalo bounced Baltimore, 35-17, in a previous meeting.

Barring an unforeseeable upset, the National league's Western title won't be decided until the two Chicago powerhouses—the Cardinals and Bears—collide. The teams, each with nine wins and one defeat, have a date Dec. 12. The Bears should get by Detroit next Sunday, likewise the Cardinals in their game with Green Bay. Earlier this season, the Bears defeated the Cards, 28-17.

Buffalo knocked the New York Yankees out of contention yesterday, 35-14, while Baltimore retained a mathematical chance by routing to sock the Brooklyn Dodgers, 38-20. Chicago and Los Angeles in the AAC were idle.

In the National league the Eagles got an assist from the Bears, who swamped the Washington Redskins, 48-13, and left them no chance of catching up in the Eastern flag chase. Two other National contests saw the New York Giants down the Boston Yanks, 28-14, and the Los Angeles Rams sink Green Bay, 24-10. The Cardinals and Detroit Lions had an off day.

Cleveland, in winning its third game in eight days, was led by Otto Graham's accurate passes. Otto tossed four touchdown passes, one more than the 49ers' aerial ace, Frankie Albert. It was Lou Groza's first period 21-yard field goal, however, that spelled the difference.

Army-Navy Tie New Cud For Hot Stove Leaguers

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29 — Football's equivalent of the hot stove league will have a new one to chaw on this winter when the talk turns to Army-Navy games.

The old timers who speak reverently of Navy's 6-4 squeeze in '93 or Army's 40-5 romp in '03 will have to move over for the youngsters who thrilled to the 21-21 deadlock of '48.

Saturday's battle here before 102,581 persons in municipal stadium was that kind of game—full of intense excitement, gentlemanly fury and spectacular football.

Both Celebrated

Both teams went home to victory celebrations. At Annapolis yesterday 2,000 Midshipmen chanted "we beat Army." The victory bell that's reserved for Navy victories over the Cadets was pounded lustily by the Middies.

The "victory wagon" met the Army team at the West Point station, just as it would have if the Cadets had come out on top as expected. It was a conquerors' welcome.

Downtrodden Navy showed from the opening kickoff that it thought it had at least an even chance against Earl Blaik's unbeaten platoons.

The Middies marched 88 yards to score the second time they got the ball. The Cadets didn't make a first down in the first quarter. Army ran the show in the second period, tying the score at 7-7, then hurrying back to gain a 14-7 halftime advantage. Both touchdowns were set up on beautiful passes by Arnold Galiffa to Dave Parrish.

Navy came back the length of the field with Bill Hawkins going over to tie the score. Hawkins, playing with a taped up arm and shoulder, later bucked over for the final tying touchdown to climax a 50-yard crunch-drunch drive that gained four yards at a clip.

Settle for Tie

Navy settled for the tie. There were only seconds to play when the Middies got the ball the last time. They played it safe, rather than gamble for the 60 yards it would have taken to score.

So it wound up 21-21, just as it did in 1926 in Chicago. The tie went down as the only blemish on Army's sixth unbeaten season and the only success on Navy's first full-length season without a victory.

Army played much of the time without its two main offensive stars—Gil Stephenson and Bobby Jack Stuart. Both aggravated old injuries early in the game.

"We have no alibis," said Blaik. It wasn't until several hours after the game that it became known that some of the players, as well as most of the corps, had suffered a dysentry attack Friday. Blaik said this had nothing to do with the game's outcome.

George Sauer, finishing his first year as Navy coach, was a happy man. "I've never had a greater thrill in football," he declared.

LOUIS TO FIGHT IN CINCINNATI TONIGHT

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Nov. 29—Cincinnati will be the port of call tonight on heavyweight champion Joe Louis' exhibition boxing tour of the hinterlands.

The champ, who has been making a series of one-night stands for four-round exhibition bouts, will have Billy Smith, Cincinnati light heavyweight, as his opponent tonight in Music Hall Sports arena.

It will be Louis' first appearance in a Cincinnati ring.

Promoter Sam Becker had expected Louis to arrive in town yesterday but the champ telephoned he had been delayed in Chicago and would not put in appearance until some time today.

In addition of the Louis-Smith exhibition, Becker will put on a regular fight program of four six-round bouts and a 10-round scrap between Dave Clark of Cincinnati and Lee (Cat) Carter of Indianapolis. They are middleweights.

MORE DEER HUNTERS EXPECTED IN OHIO

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, Nov. 29—Sale of deer-hunting permits to date indicates that twice as many hunters will stalk Ohio's deer population than did last year when the six-day season opens Dec. 13. The Ohio division of conservation and natural resources said today.

In 1947, 10,000 hunters killed 1,000 deer in eight counties.

This year the entire season for 13 northeastern Ohio counties, which closes Dec. 18, will be open to both gunners and archers.

Each hunter will need, in addition to the Ohio hunting license, a permit costing $5. It is on sale at Division of conservation headquarters in Columbus, all seven conservation district offices, the county clerk of courts offices in the deer hunting area and by game protectors in each of the 88 counties.

Hunters must also have written permission from the landowner on whose farm they expect to hunt.

Deer hunters may use shotguns loaded with "pumpkin-ball" or rifled-slug shell or bows of not less than 40-pound pull and barbless arrows. No rifles of any calibre will be permitted.

The season's limit for each hunter will be one deer of either sex. Hunting hours will be 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. throughout the season.

The 13 counties include Lake, Geauga, Ashtabula, Trumbull, Portage, Columbiana, Jefferson, Carroll, Mahoning, Stark, Summit, Harrison and Tuscarawas.

Mullie Lenoir, halfback on the University of Alabama's 1920 team, still holds the Crimson Tide's individual scoring record with 144 points on 24 touchdowns.

Marion Couple Bags Buck in Michigan

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Campbell of 197 Franconia avenue are all smiles. Friday morning they returned to Marion with a ten point, 320-pound buck after a two week deer hunting trip in Michigan. The deer was shot in Hiawatha national forest near Munising, Mich.

Ohio Wesleyan Opens Cage Season Saturday

DELAWARE O., Nov. 29 (OPS)—Ohio Wesleyan's [illegible] basketball squad will open its 1948-49 season Saturday at Edwards Field when Coach Bob Shimer sends his third edition of the Bishops against Hillsdale College of Michigan.

Only one veteran returns from the 1947-48 team which finished seventh in the Ohio conference scramble and four of those are included in the starting five.

A glance at the 24-game schedule reveals eight of the games a big road handicap in basketball—14 conference tilts and such non-league foes as the University of West Virginia, Washington & Jefferson, Morehead (Ky.) State College, Wooster and Baldwin-Wallace.

The scoring punch will be supplied by Captain Chuck Buttermore all-Ohio in 1946-47 and all-Conference in 1947-48 at guard and Jud Milton, who led the undefeated Bishop freshman squad of last season with a 20-point per game average.

Opposite Buttermore at guard will be Jack Moore, a three year veteran making his first bid for starting honors.

The forwards probably will be Johnny Meyer, a Celina product who ends his college eligibility at the close of the second semester, and Jack Smith, a scrappy competitor seeking his third Wesleyan letter. Another forward likely to figure in the starting plans is 6-foot 3-inch Bill Milhon, twin brother of Jud, whose 198 pounds will come in handy in the fight for rebounds.

Tom Wenzlau, Tipp City junior [illegible] letterman and a [illegible] action at center or [illegible]

George Gauthier, Wesleyan athletic director, said that there will be 360 reserved seat tickets available at the public. They will go on sale first semester ticket basis with single game tickets priced at 75 cents and the eight-game season ticket selling for $5.00. General admission will be available and will go on sale at gamet me at 75 cents each.

The schedule follows:

[illegible] at Wesleyan, [illegible] Wesleyan, Wesleyan at [illegible] Jan. 8—Wesleyan at [illegible] [illegible] at Delaware, [illegible] at Wesleyan, Wesleyan at [illegible] at Marietta, [illegible] at Morehead State at Ashland, Ky.

February 5—[illegible] at Wesleyan, Wesleyan at [illegible] at Wooster, [illegible] at Wesleyan, Wesleyan at Marietta, [illegible] at Morehead State at Ashland, Ky.

March 1—Marietta at Delaware, [illegible] at Delaware.

JUST BEFORE FUMBLE. Back Bob Nussbaumer (50) of Washington Redskins goes up and over a fallen teammate only to be tackled by end Ed Cifers (14) of the Chicago Bears in first period of game at Chicago. Nussbaumer fumbled after the tackle. Back Fred Evans (not in picture) of the Bears recovered the fumble and raced for Bears second touchdown. Tackle John Sanchez (49) of Redskins runs in on play, while Center Stuart Clarkson (31) of Bears does acrobatics.

PUBLIC HUNTING IN OHIO THREATENED

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, Nov. 29—Public hunting in Ohio may be a thing of the past in a few years unless hunters cease abuse of hunting privileges state conservation commissioner H. A. Rider said today.

Commenting on statewide reports of record-breaking hunting violators and abuse of property privileges during the 1948 pheasant hunting season, just closed, Rider said public hunting cannot continue under such circumstances for many years.

"If public hunting is on the way out, there's one thing for sure—a small segment of the hunters are responsible," the commissioner said.

Game protectors in counties which normally have the heaviest hunting pressure admit they cannot account for the lawlessness and ill manners of some hunters of the 1948 season, Rider said.

Part of the trouble might be attributed to the high price of meat, causing many hunters to become "meat hogs" in spite of heavy fines imposed on those apprehended," Rider added.

The conservation official said the pheasant brood stock was hard hit by hen shooting violations. In addition, he said, the privilege of hunting on private lands has been threatened through careless and willful abuse.

SAYS CHURCH, HOME LIKE SIAMESE TWINS

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Nov. 29—A New York university professor of education declared today the home and not the church, school or Sunday school is the most effective laboratory for the development of Christian living.

Dr. Samuel Hartman, in a speech prepared for delivery at the National Conference on Church and Home, likened the church and the home, however, to Siamese twins—if they are separated, both may die.

"The church cannot function unless she employs the home as her main reliance to nurture Christian living," he said. "The family cannot be a Christian family or a happy family unless it shares those spiritual influences of which the church is the great custodian."

Dr. Hartman described the traditional concept of the Christian home as a place where "grandmother gets the warm spot by fire or mother is 'hushing' the baby to sleep" and he urged church leaders to take a "more realistic view" of the home as a character building institution.

"The family is a factor in fostering delinquency, crime, homosexuality, alcoholism, vagrancy, neurotic behavior and insanity," he said. "It also can be used to cultivate good citizenship, democratic attitudes and those qualities needed by American people to meet the present world crisis."

Says Marriages Have Better Chance on Farm

CINCINNATI, Nov. 29—If you want to keep your marriage off the rocks you had better head for the country.

That was advice given today by Mrs. James D. Wyker of Mount Vernon, O., at a luncheon meeting sponsored by the National Conference on Church and Home. Mrs. Wyker is a representative of the Ohio State department of home economics.

She gave these four reasons why she believes the rural man and wife have a better chance for success in marriage than city dwellers:

1. The farm home is an industry where the man and wife are doing a job together.

2. Children who form the backbone of a successful family life are twice as numerous per family in rural sections as in the city.

3. Everybody has a job to perform and are mutually dependent on one another.

4. Rural homes are built to be used and the neighborhood youngsters can make themselves at home without fear of scuffing the rugs and floors.

AMPUTEE AT WORK. One of the nation's two quadruple amputees, Frederick Hensel, 30-year-old veteran, drives around his farm near Birmingham, Ala., with his wife, Helen and his nephew, Jimmy. The hero, who lost both arms and both legs in combat, has just been cited by the Veterans' Administration for his successful efforts in becoming a self-supporting citizen despite his tremendous physical handicap.

4-H YOUTHS STUDY SOIL CONSERVATION

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 29—America's farm land won't blow away or become barren if the current crop of 4-H young people has anything to do with it.

Eight young farmers, named today as winners of the 4-H national soil conservation contest, have reported methods of checking soil losses which range from seeding, crop rotation, changing the course of a creek, and building dams, to contour strip cropping and terracing.

Winners in the soil conservation division each will receive a $200 scholarship to the college or university of his choice, plus an all-expense trip to the 27th national 4-H club congress which opened here yesterday. The awards were donated by the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co.

Winners include John Charles Phillips, 18, Wilkesville, O.

Pleads Not Guilty To Charge of Fraud

Fred [illegible] Dawson, 37, of 135 Bagley avenue, pleaded not guilty in municipal court today to a charge of fraud filed by Clyde Wilson of Wilson and Sasse Co., furniture dealers.

Dawson was arrested at 4:44 a. m. today on West Center street on a warrant charging fraud issued by municipal court on an affidavit filed by Mr. Wilson. In his affidavit Wilson charged Dawson with the purchase of some items of furniture value unspecified on the installment plan with the intent to defraud and further charged Dawson then hid the furniture to prevent its repossession by Wilson when installments due were unpaid.

Dawson was returned to city prison under $200 bond after making his plea in court today. Judge Hazen set Dawson's case for hearing at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

This is Dawson's third arrest here on a variety of charges, police report.

Close-Clipped Curls New Style for Women

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 29—Close-clipped curls are the new style for ladies.

That was the official word today at the eight annual style show of the Ohio Cosmetologists association.

The new hair-do consists of a short haircut plus ringlets. And it may include coloring the locks in one of the softer shades.

Lectures and demonstrations of the new style were given yesterday by Paul Vedder of Cincinnati and Miriam Cordwell of New York.

Vedder stressed several hues—a smoke gray for the matron, silver blond for women for fair skins and amber brown for brunettes.

DANBURY, Conn., Nov. 29—Tragedy in the wake of a wedding at which she had served as matron of honor brought death to Mrs. Elaine Williamson in an automobile accident here yesterday.

Mrs. Williamson, 25, socially prominent in Dayton, O., was killed when the car operated by the bride's brother left the Danbury - Newton highway and crashed into a tree.

"Once upon a time," there was a taxpayer, whose struggles with a Form 1040 were almost tragic! All types of confusing calculations, from adding to subtracting . . . arguments with himself about, "what can be deducted?" Howls of complaint and frustration were emitted, because of the hopelessness of "decoding" the four-page instruction sheet which accompanied the 1040. Next March, a change is coming! The Treasury Department will send each taxpayer a simply written, 16-page booklet. It will tell how to legally reduce one's tax and from all reports, the task of figuring the tax will be so easy that we'll all be able to pay Uncle Sam before the deadline! So, watch for this Instruction Book, it'll save taxing your brain!

Our Body and Fender Shop will make your family proud of the family chariot. You'll be amazed at the change in your car when we remove the wrinkles and take the dents out of the fenders. Stop in for a free estimate . . . you'll be amazed at the reasonable prices, too. Phone 2382.—Adv.

Inaugural Ball To Cost $2 a Person

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Nov. 29—It will cost $2 a head—plus taxes—to dance at the inauguration ball after Frank J. Lausche of Cleveland is sworn in as governor of Ohio Jan. 10.

Preliminary plans for the traditional event were made yesterday by the League of Young Democratic Clubs of Ohio. Two ballrooms of the Neil house are to be used. The time is to be 10 p. m. to 1 a. m.

Jack Bush of Portsmouth is chairman of the ticket committee and Hale R. King of Columbus heads the reception committee. Robert Wallace of Columbus, league president, will be general chairman of the arrangements committee.

Wallace said tentative plans also were made for an inauguration day breakfast to precede the noon ceremonies of swearing in the new governor.

FUMES KILL THREE

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Nov. 29—Monoxide fumes from a defective gas heater killed three members of a family here over the week-end. The victims, whose bodies were found last night, were Bonny Allen, 32, his wife, Flora, 30, and their 18-month-old son, Ray. Mr. and Mrs. John Clemmer, neighbors, summoned Mrs. Peggy Coleman, caretaker, after seeing the light burning in the Allen apartment continuously since Saturday morning. Coroner Herbert P. Lyle said the parents had been dead at least 12 hours and the baby one to three hours.

BUSINESS STILL GOOD DESPITE DOWN SIGNS

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 29—Business as a whole is still good despite signs of weakness in several important directions an Associated Press survey of strategic regions showed today.

Business leaders studied anxiously such straws in the economic wind as these:

(1) A decline in department store sales.

(2) Scattered shutdowns or layoffs by small companies.

(3) Easing agricultural prices.

(4) Some business expansion plans either cancelled or postponed.

(5) An uneasy inertia in textiles and other soft goods.

The question was: are these real danger signals this time? Or are they false alarms, like the one which early in 1947 and again at the beginning of this year caused recession worries?

The midwest was in somewhat better position businesswise than the national average because of heavy production of commodities and durable goods in strongest demand.

Midwest employment was stronger than the northeast and some other areas, and business expansion was still evident although not pronounced. Incorporations were a little higher than the national average—failures a little lower.

Prices in the midwest were somewhat higher than for the nation as a whole, and were still inching upward, particularly in Chicago. Retail sales were off less than elsewhere. Some midwestern retailers said the slack reflects the change in public reaction to the early pre-Christmas push which was more successful last year when shortages were more extensive.

Federation Musicians Present First Concert

The first of a series of concerts to be given by members of Marion Local No. 631, American Federation of Musicians, was presented yesterday at the Marion County Children's Home. A program of vocal and instrumental music was given. Selections included Christmas numbers and also those requested by the children. Presenting the program were Mrs. Fanny Benson, Homer Huffman, George W. Lane, William Dowler and Billy Johnston.

Next Sunday afternoon the group will go to Upper Sandusky where a program will be given at the Evangelical and Reformed Church home and in the evening a program will be presented at the Waddell Ladies Home here.

The series of concerts is made possible through funds derived from the recording and transcription fund of the American Federation and is financed by royalty payments from record and electrical manufacturers.

New Weapon Against Beetle Grubs Found

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—The agriculture department has found a promising new insecticide for use against Japanese beetle grubs.

It is chlordane, a relative of DDT but 10 times better for the purpose, according to agriculture experts. Tests with 40 different kinds of soil indicate that only 10 pounds of chlordane per acre is required to kill 98 per cent of the grubs within a week and a half in warm weather, the department said.

The new insecticide had no adverse effect on lawn grass, garden vegetables, strawberries and other growing things in the tests made so far. One treatment will remain effective at least two years.

The department has as yet issued no directions for use of the formula by gardeners generally.

Army Comes Up With New Field Ration

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—The Army, aware of GI gripes during the war, has come up with a new and "superior" field ration for its troops.

The new ration, designated the C-4, includes a "wide variety" of meats, vegetables and fruit and such comforts as cigarets, soluble coffee, sweets, gum and toilet tissue, the Army said.

Ex-GI's who studied the six different basic menus agreed there is a greater variety than during the war. They also noted that beans in one form or another appear on all six.

The packets include plastic spoons that can be thrown away after use. They are intended to prevent dysentary which sometimes results from re-using improperly cleaned utensils.

The Two-Headed Boy

NEW YORK [illegible]

ONE DAY [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] only lady contestants Homer-Horace were [illegible]

"Who composed Gray's Elegy Written in a Country Churchyard" asked the master of ceremonies

"Thomas Gray" snapped Horace The audience broke into a storm of amazed applause

"How many men are there in a male quartet?" said the MC "Four" barked Homer the mathematical wizard Again the audience handclapped its surprise wonder

THE REST is history Homer-Horace [illegible] overnight sensation

Hal Boyle

Homer Horace grew up to be a strong rugged boy the envy and despair of class mates Horace was a dreamy intellectual who by the age of 12 had read practically every book ever written Homer was the active outdoor type played in the school band, was a star in mathematics and quarterback and captain of the football team.

They graduated at the top of their class what Horace didn't know Homer did and everybody predicted a brilliant future

But landing a job proved more difficult than they expected It seemed the business world had no place for a man with two heads, even though Homer-Horace offered to work for one salary

OVER AND OVER they got the same depressing answer

"What we're looking for, boys, is a man with four hands—instead of two heads"

For a time they teamed up in a 'before and after' demonstration of a hair tonic in a department store window Homer mussed up his hair and posed as "before" Horace, whose hair was neatly combed, represented "after"

In a single week sales of the tonic dropped to zero. Homer-Horace was fired

"I'm sorry, you all," said the manager "But our customers are getting the idea that if they use that tonic they'll grow an extra head"

At home Horace-Homer became quite a financial problem to their parents Their double appetite made the family food bills ruinous

Prove for yourself what throat specialists reported when 30-day smoking test revealed

NO THROAT IRRITATION due to smoking CAMELS!

How mild can a cigarette be? Make the 30-day Camel mildness test—and then you'll know!

A similar 30-day test was recently made by hundreds of smokers from coast to coast. These men and women smoked Camels exclusively for 30 days—an average of one to two packs a day. Each week, noted throat specialists examined the throats of these smokers—a total of 2470 exacting examinations. And these specialists reported not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking Camels!

Put Camels to the test—in your "T-Zone" (T for Taste and T for Throat). Let YOUR OWN TASTE tell you about the full, rich flavor of Camel's choice tobaccos Let YOUR OWN THROAT give you the word on Camel's cool mildness.

Money-Back Guarantee!

Try Camels and test them as you smoke them If, at any time, you are not convinced that Camels are the mildest cigarette you ever smoked, return the package with the unused Camels and we will refund its full purchase price, plus postage. (Signed) R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

According to a Nationwide survey:

MORE DOCTORS SMOKE CAMELS THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE

Doctors smoke for pleasure, too! And when three leading independent research organizations asked 113,597 doctors what cigarette they smoked, the brand named most was Camel!

Seeing-Eye Dog Aids Girl's Tour of Country

By The United Press

MILWAUKEE — Norine McNichols has chalked up her 80,000th mile traveling across the country selling electrical appliances with Queenie her seeing-eye dog.

Five years ago she was blinded by an accident and was adopted by Queenie a big brown boxer.

Miss McNichols said her "best friend had not only saved her job but should get credit for saving a useful life."

During the interview Queenie slept peacefully at the end of her mistress leash.

"She's bored," Miss McNichols laughed. "She's heard this story too many times."

"Yes," I answered tensely.

"Well, I thought I'd better tell her the truth," he said. "So I told her that Dad found a thief in the study hunting for money, that the thief shot at him, and that the man's now in the hands of the police."

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Injections That Lessen the Effect of Certain Diseases.

WITH the rapid development of science during the past few years, we have discovered that within the blood there are substances known as immune bodies which help the body to throw off infections.

Most of these substances are in the protein part of the blood, known as the gamma globulin fraction. Thus gamma globulin may prevent or make measles milder and may do the same for scarlet fever, German measles, whooping cough, chickenpox, and a liver condition known as hepatitis.

Gamma globulin is given by injection into a muscle. It causes only slight local reactions. It may be given safely to persons who are allergic or oversensitive. It is not advised that it be given by injection into a vein.

In measles, in about three-fourths of the cases, the injection of gamma globulin will produce complete protection against the disease for three or four weeks. The injection seems to prevent the disease in about a third of the cases and makes it much milder in the remainder. It is advised that the substance be given within six days after exposure to the disorder.

All children under three years of age, and those in poor health should be protected against measles, if possible. For others, it may be advisable to give a lesser dose of the gamma globulin. This does not prevent the disease, but the attack is made milder. In this way, the child secures permanent immunity to the disorder thereafter.

Epidemics of a liver condition, known as infectious hepatitis, may occur. It has been found that with the gamma globulin, 90 per cent of those receiving the gamma globulin are protected against this condition. It is suggested that at present this protection against infectious hepatitis be limited to the protection of those having other diseases, pregnant women, and those working in military institutions. The gamma globulin appears to have no effect against this disorder after it occurs.

The gamma globulin does not seem to have any effect in mumps but will prevent chickenpox. It may be used in children's hospitals to prevent contagious diseases where cross-infection with chickenpox might be frequent.

It has been found, too, that gamma globulin administered to babies with whooping cough may shorten the course of the disease, reduce the severity, and lessen the number of complications.

Gamma globulin has also been found quite helpful in treating scarlet fever and in lessening the number of complications of this disease.

SUBS MAY AID IN GUIDING AIR BOMBS

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, No 29 — submarines will never fly. But the Navy says that in another war they may get the best usage from the air.

The idea is not so much new at the dream stage. But to hear a sailor than Adm Louis E Denfeld, chief of naval operations, is doing the dreaming.

It would work out like this:

An aircraft carrier has its eye on a tough target. So tough that its planes can't get through. Neither can other Navy surface ships.

So up comes the guided missile department with a self-propelled load of destruction the size of a B-29. This missile will cross an ocean under its own power.

It will travel, of course, at speeds faster than sound. If it ever gets to the right place it will give the enemy plenty to think about.

Getting it there with pinpoint accuracy, is where the submarines come in. The carrier stands 1 000 miles away from the target, in safety.

The submarines line up under water, every 100 miles or so along the route to the target. They are equipped with radar, and so is the missile.

All the submarines have to do then is pick up the missile as it comes within range and guide it along by radar impulses. This way, a bull's-eye is practically certain.

CHIANG VISIT TO TOUCH OFF DRIVE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov 29 — Madame Chiang Kai-Shek's arrival here this week is expected to touch off a fresh drive to get the United States to underwrite China's war against its communist foes.

Authoritative informants said today that as the Chinese president's wife she will be shown every courtesy. But they made clear privately they have little sympathy with Madame Chiang's unofficial mission.

This attitude has been openly shown in the hands-off policy the state department has tried to follow as far as possible in dealing with her trip. In announcing Saturday night that she would travel here in a U S naval transport plane the department emphasized that it was made available "at her request." There was no expression of welcome and no official word on arrangements which might be made to expedite her mission after the scheduled arrival Wednesday.

The fact is Madame Chiang's trip dramatizes a dilemma in which Secretary of State Marshall and President Truman presently find themselves in connection with the Chinese crisis.

On the one hand, according to responsible informants they wish to avoid any word or action which might embarrass the Chiang government in its struggle with the Communists. And they are hopeful a way may be found by which the United States can help to prevent a Communist conquest of all China.

On the other hand, the administration leaders appear to have lost all confidence in Chiang's ability to reorganize his military and political strength so as to halt the Communist tide and eventually reverse it.

The first Atlantic cable was laid in 1858 between Newfoundland and Ireland.

AIM TO KEEP LIMITS ON DEFENSE COSTS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov 29—Unless grave new threats develop overseas, administration officials appear resolved to hold military spending to the $15,000,000,000 limit set by President Truman.

Otherwise, they have been warned, the nation may be plunged into a greater inflationary whirlpool.

Two top civilian advisers to the President, it was learned today, have carried this campaign against high defense costs right in military headquarters at the Pentagon. Their talks were delivered to a seminar of leading citizens early this month but were not then publicly reported.

Chairman Edwin G. Nourse of the President's council of economic advisers warned that if the military budget rises to "a level of 18 or 20 billions, there are bound to be important repercussions on the economy."

Mr Truman said last month that the armed forces had requested $23,000,000,000 for the 1950 fiscal year starting July 1.

Probe Fire Which Killed 7 in Family

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Nov 29 — Arson squad detectives were investigating a flash fire which last night swept the second floor of a crowded multiple dwelling taking the lives of a mother and her six children.

The dead were identified as Mrs. Elizabeth Jenkins, 42; Marlene, 9; Peggy, 7; Robert Lee, 3, Mattleen, 2, Beverly Ann, 14 months and Neenyora, two months. They are Negroes.

The father, Jesse, 48, and another child, Constance, 13, were in serious condition at receiving hospital. Both jumped from a second floor window.

Hospital attendants said more than a dozen injured were brought in for treatment.

Cause of the blaze is not known. It is believed to have started in an unfinished portion of the attic.

5,000 Expected At Farm Bureau Meeting

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Nov 29—An estimated attendance of 5,000 was expected today for the opening of the annual Ohio Farm Bureau federation.

So large was the expected turnout—largest since before the war—officials have scheduled sessions at four big meeting places. They are the Neil House, Memorial hall and the Deshler-Wallick hotel. Youth sessions will be held at the Chittenden hotel.

One of the top features of the program will be an address Tuesday night by David E. Lilienthal, chairman of the atomic energy commission. He will speak at Memorial hall.

HEARING OPENS ON PHONE RATE HIKE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Nov 29—The state public utilities commission opens hearings today on Ohio Bell Telephone Co's application to increase rates to 1,432,550 subscribers.

The company is asking the subscribers to pay increases ranging from 8¢ to slightly more than 9 per cent according to its application filed with the commission last February. The customers are serviced by 170 exchanges throughout the state, exclusive of Cincinnati.

If granted the increases would insure the company an additional $8,500,000 in gross revenues annually which the company maintains will result in no more than a fair reasonable and lawful return upon the fair value of its property used and useful in providing intra-state telephone service.

Here's the company's proposed schedule of increases for the different types of services:

	New	Old
Individual residence	$4 35	$4 00
Two-party residence	3 55	3 25
Four-party residence	3 00	2 75
Rural	3 00	2 75
Main business	12 00	11 00
Measured business	6 00	5 50

The company pointed out its last general increase in rates authorized by the utilities commission was in 1927.

Fourteen Ohio communities have protested to the commission against granting the increases since the application was filed.

These are Cleveland, Campbell, Defiance, Tiffin, Columbus, Toledo, Akron, Dayton, Springfield, Youngstown, Steubenville, Clinton, Struthers and Lorain.

The commission's chief aim in the proceedings is to determine whether giving all of the applicant the increases they have asked would be unreasonable.

Postwar Quarterbacks

IT'S HARD to understand the hullabaloo which criticisms of American generals have started. Could anybody be so naive as to imagine that the makers of momentous military decisions would not be subject to the same second-guessing that has plagued all the great generals of the past?

Certainly Gen Eisenhower himself had no doubt it would happen to him when his memoirs were published. He admitted as much a few days ago to an audience of booksellers. The "what might have been" element is involved in all explanations of military action, he pointed out. Critics are in their glory. Postwar quarterbacks are as standard a fixture of militarism as Monday morning quarterbacks are of football.

No one, in other words, should be upset because the British, for example, think their Gen Montgomery was a better strategist than Eisenhower; or because a hornet's nest of recriminations has been stirred up by Marine Gen Holland M. Smith's writings about certain actions in the Pacific. These things were inevitable.

There never was a war which couldn't have been fought better by hindsight. But wars are not fought by hindsight. They are fought by harried men under extreme pressures, and one man's guess in a given situation frequently must serve as some smarter man's excuse for making a better guess when the war is over. It has always been that way. Despite determination to do it better the next time, it always will be that way.

Don't Miss the Point

A MIDDLE-AGED man was saying the other day as the subject of Christmas was mentioned that he no longer enjoyed the occasion. "It isn't the way it used to be when my daughter was growing up," he complained.

Of course it isn't. Christmas is the children's great holiday. Everything about it is for their benefit. The oldsters are merely permitted to cut in on the pleasure for whatever they can still get out of it.

The moral of the Dickens story about Scrooge is universal. Scrooge was shut away from the Spirit of Christmas until he discovered how to enjoy it through the emotions of a child. Don't miss the point of Christmas: share it with a child.

There will be times during the next four weeks when the pleasure of Christmas may not seem worth the energy used up in seeking it. There will be times when the over-commercialism of Christmas shopping will seem too much to bear. But these are incidental to the spirit of Christmas, which is concerned with what happens in the hearts of children.

One Act, a Thousand Theories

IT'S HARD to imagine that the members of the Yale football squad who voted unanimously to elect Levi Jackson their captain for next season were thinking about the tough problem of race relations. But by one act they accomplished more in the way of an eventual solution than a thousand theories could accomplish.

Jackson is the first Negro to be elected captain of a football team at Yale. He is one of the first Negroes to be elected to a similar position in any university. But we repeat that it isn't likely the Yale men who bestowed the honor on him were thinking about that. They were paying a natural tribute to a team mate who had earned it by his outstanding skill and qualities of leadership.

As more and more members of Jackson's race earn recognition for what they are as individuals, that part of the race relations problem which concerns Negroes will begin to solve itself independently of theories about the way it might be solved if this, that and the other thing did or didn't exist. The fact is that this, that and the other thing do exist or don't exist and to wish they didn't is no solution to anything.

Seeing and Hearing Red

THE VERY REV. HEWLETT JOHNSON, the "Red Dean" of Canterbury cathedral, is going about this country chiding Americans for not honeying up to Russian communism. It is a remarkable performance for a cleric.

But the most remarkable thing about it is that Americans aren't disturbed by it. They are willing to listen to this curious anomaly of the cloth because they are confident of their collective ability to withstand his incredible preachment, just as they recently withstood the preachments of Henry Wallace. They have noted with relish the belated determination of the CIO to heed of the Communist cancer it has harbored. They believe, as they have always believed, that freedom's best protection is the privilege of free men to make up their own minds after seeing and hearing all the evidence pro and con.

And they are acutely mindful of one thing that the "Red Dean" of Canterbury cannot admit—that while he has the privilege of betraying his professed faith by preaching communism in the United States and in England, no Englishman or American would be permitted to speak one word in defense of human freedom and dignity in the police state he professes to admire.

Dangerous Words

Tax Proposals That Threaten Economic System

WASHINGTON

SOMEONE ought to ask a few questions about the Truman tax program. To the great majority of the American people it sounds like a good thing to tax corporations more heavily. Even the leaders of the CIO have come out in favor of a tax increase on corporate profits. Democratic party leaders have been talking about it for months.

One of the most widely circulated pamphlets is "How To Make Profits Work" and it advocates "How To Make an American Industrial Strength in the Next World War."

Unfortunately, these figures are not as familiar as they ought to be. The significance of the average American income tax bears the brunt of a new wave of organized political resentment on the subject of taxing away corporation profits may be responsible for the scrapping of the American economic system.

It is time for the facts to be hurled about for maybe once the fact that America as a nation will make a record haul of 20 billions of profits in 1948. Labor unions say it justifies a "fourth round" of wage increases. President Truman in a nonpolitical moment during the campaign called it "swag." Now the argument runs that an excess profits tax must be adopted by congress to take a large part of this money for tax revenues.

• • •

BUT WHAT IS the truth about these corporation profits? Who has gotten them? What have they been used for? Senator Flanders of Vermont, a liberal Republican, has wisely started a congressional investigation to bring out the facts. It's the most worthwhile inquiry that has emerged on Capitol Hill in years.

Certain questions can be answered by the investigation. Have the profits been used to rebuild and repair plant equipment? Have they been used merely to give stockholders more dividends? Have they been used to further expansion and improvement of facilities? For, thanks to the New Deal's shortsightedness and the fears of more curtailment in the future, there is no such thing any more as raising capital in the so-called equity markets. Investors are too scared and if they make any gains they are taxed away. No more certain way exists to bring on state socialism than to deprive businesses, old and new, of any means of raising risk capital. For then the government has to provide capital and this means government personnel in the management and finally a totalitarian regime in which government is the master and not the servant of the people.

• • •

EVERY TIME some of the radicals make speeches about excess profits they usually refer to the fact that corporations have been allowed to charge off as a cost of doing business a certain amount for depreciation of plant and equipment. They say that this is a tax loophole.

▶Actually, depreciation allowances are not a tax loophole. They are a necessary part of the cost of doing business. Without adequate depreciation allowances, the capital of the country would be wiped out.

▶During the war, depreciation allowances were increased to encourage the building of new plants for war purposes. Now, corporations are being penalized for having taken advantage of the law.

▶Depreciation allowances for the year 1948 will amount to about $2 billion. The corporations have been allowed to charge off about 23 billions of depreciation since 1939, assuming that all the plant facilities could be used until worthless. They have to get no dividends to pay them for the use of their money.

▶Expenditures for new plant and equipment of some corporations run 12 billion dollars in 1948 about 10 billions in 1947 and will amount to more than 19 billions in 1948.

Now are the stockholders getting all the profits or is America getting them in the form of improved plant and equipment to meet the demands of a growing country and of our new programs of world help? Here is the answer.

• • •

IN THE POSTWAR period less than one-half of net earnings has been distributed to stockholders in dividends, as contrasted with three-fourths in 1939 and two-thirds in 1929. Conservative dividend policy has been prompted by a desire to avoid borrowing and to avoid seeking equity capital in markets where the investors are plainly discouraged and reluctant to invest because they fear dividends will not be forth coming under policies of confiscation of private enterprise by government.

The above statistics and explanation of their background can be found in a speech delivered this week by Winthrop Aldrich, chairman of the board of the Chase National bank. But with a little digging even more facts of that kind are readily available to newspapers, magazines, radio and to professors of economics in the colleges. Yet it is strange how little one hears about what happened to the record high of 20 billions of profits earned this year or last by corporations—the soundest phase of recent economic developments, the real cushion against depression, and the greatest barrier this country has devised to beat inflation through high production. Lower prices and even higher wages are possible but not if capital formation is stifled by destructive taxation.

Anti-Inflation Program

By Mark Sullivan

WASHINGTON

FROM the White House last week came announcement of a commission to lay out a legislative program for checking inflation and cost of living. Head of the commission is to be a distinguished economist, Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the council of economic advisers, which is an official body, and the commission includes five cabinet members together with heads of other government agencies.

About the nature of the program Dr. Nourse was brief, as is proper in advance announcement. He said, "There will be a definite program," adding for emphasis and in explanation of present brevity, the word "period." Further than that Dr. Nourse went little more than to say, "It will be prepared in the light of the present situation, the party platform, and the program of the President as it has been revealed."

In the implications of those words is some inherent contradiction, for they suggest a mingling of disinterested economic considerations with interested political ones. This is further suggested by the presence, among the five cabinet members on the commission, of two who were conspicuously active in Mr Truman's recent campaign, Secretary of Agriculture Brannan and Secretary of Labor Tobin. To the extent, if any, that a coming program takes account of political considerations, it would be likely to be short of economic perfection. One of the most bedeviling obstacles to wise economic policy in our time is that price has become politics.

• • •

THE PRESENCE of price in politics, and its predominance there, is suggested by a recent coincidence. Just as the economist head of the new commission was named the existing council of economic advisers [illegible] report [illegible] congress. The report included these sentences:

"The [illegible] been made [illegible] wage [illegible] tempt to [illegible] and reduce [illegible] goods [illegible] wage increases [illegible] been made to date [illegible] previous price [illegible] followed by [illegible] the prices [illegible]

On the [illegible] statement of the council of economic advisers went before congress, President Truman was addressing the Democratic convention. He gave the [illegible] he and the party could expect to win the presidential election. Among other reasons he implied that two great groups, labor and farmers, could be expected to vote for him [illegible] they would be the most ungrateful people in the world." And throughout the campaign Mr. Truman added, to the reasons these groups had for past gratitude, promises and implications of more.

THEREIN is the really potential key to whether there will be more inflation and higher cost of living. The program to be made by the new commission appointed this week can be judged, after it is made, by whether it faces, definitely and courageously, the part played in inflation by wage rates received by labor and prices received by farmers. These groups are the reciprocal parts of the automatic mechanism which composes the wage-price spiral. That spiral is headed for another upward spurt.

Labor leaders have stated that there will be another round of demands, the fourth, for increases in wage rates, to cover some sixteen million workers, in nearly all industries. The occasion for the demands is there. In CIO alone, some 10,000 wage contracts expire during the winter and early spring, including those in such great industries as steel. In the demands for wage increases are successful, there will result increased costs of manufacturing goods, and these in turn will in most lines result in higher prices of goods to consumers.

• • •

AGAIN IN TURN, higher prices of goods which farmers must buy will be recognized by the department of agriculture as calling automatically for higher [illegible] prices upon which the department bases the figures which it will support prices of farm crops. This is provided by the price support laws as they stand.

In spite of a present slight [illegible] prices of food [illegible] the public must bear in mind [illegible] from the [illegible] Board [illegible] and where the [illegible] the party [illegible] have come [illegible] the [illegible] for [illegible]

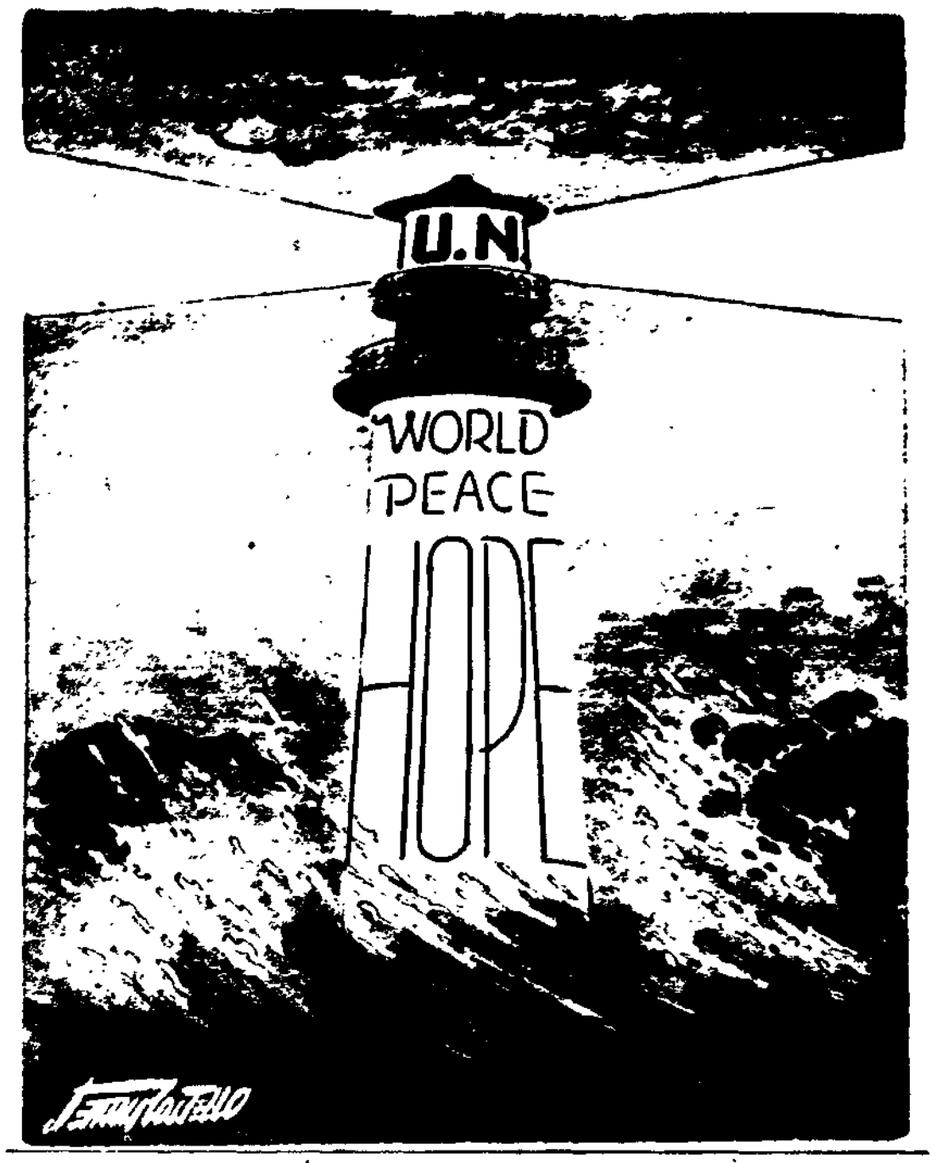
Light That Mustn't Fail



From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO.

It was Tuesday, Nov. 29, 1938.

Marion's community fund campaign got off to a flying start as a total of $8,780.88 was announced at the first report meeting. The goal was $29,770.00.

Two hundred and fifty members and friends of Trinity Baptist church attended a reception honoring Rev. Lawrence A. Wood, pastor, and Mrs. Wood, in recognition of their 10 years of service to the church.

Mrs. Leo Keller and Miss Edith Eibling entertained with a shower at the home of the former on Forest street for Miss Juanita Wade, who was to be married to Edward Melvin on Dec. 18.

Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Johnson of Wood street and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd E. Robinson of North Main street.

A family dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Peacock of Shady Nook was in honor of the 84th birthday anniversary of Mr. Peacock.

Howard Click was elected master at a meeting of Progressive Grange.

Fire Chief T. J. McFarland was confined to his home on East George street as the result of a freak accident two weeks previous when he was struck on the leg by a stone hurled by a passing automobile.

A fire blamed on an overheated coal stove resulted in approximately $400 damage at the Carl McWhorter home on Monroe street.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

It was Thursday, Nov. 29, 1928.

It was announced that a survey made among prominent citizens here showed a pronounced opinion in favor of merging all local welfare and youth agencies in a community fund.

George Whysall was elected president of the Marion Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. C. G. Smith of South Prospect street was visiting her daughter, Miss Virginia Smith, at Madison, Wis., where Miss Smith was a sophomore in the University of Wisconsin.

Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Palmer of Mt. Vernon avenue had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Mann of Wooster and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Moon of Ashland.

So Much for Ickes

Harold L. Ickes, who has been peppering newspapers for guessing wrong about the outcome of the election, apparently has forgotten a newspaper column he himself wrote about the election.

Like many columnists who tried to anticipate what was going to happen so their columns would seem to be fresh and timely, Ickes wrote this one before he knew how the election would turn out. The column was killed by all newspapers in this country, but it got printed in the Panama Star and Herald on Nov. 7, five days after the election. Clippings have found their way back to this country and are being chortled over by persons weary of the former interior secretary's preaching.

"Harry S. Truman, the seventh of the American presidents by chance," wrote Honest Harold peering into his crystal ball, "was able to win a nomination at the end of his broken term. And he failed of re-election. . . . One may suspect that he did not have about him advisers who were able coolly to appreciate the situation and tell him he could not win."

Champions Must Win

By Frank Tripp

HAVE you ever considered the feelings of a favorite who is defeated right on the threshold of success? Crowds treat him badly.

It's so much worse than when fighting from under; when less is expected of a contender; when any sort of showing amounts to an achievement which draws applause.

The champion, or the favorite, in any contest must approach perfection. He must win or become the object of jeers from those who went to cheer him.

You must have sometime attended an event which ended in astonishing upset of popular opinion and brutal renunciation of a favorite, who lost. Maybe you jeered him too.

The thoroughbred knows how to take it. That is, he knows how to take it publicly; but when he gets alone, or just with his wife or his close pals, he breaks down; and often cries.

Don't let anybody tell you that he doesn't. No man can get very high in the people's affections if he doesn't possess the human emotions, no matter how hard-boiled he seems on the surface.

• • •

AMONG PLACES to encounter mass cruelty are the ringside and the race track. Of course, a horse that sold even money and finished fourth with a king's ransom bet on his nose, can't hear what's said about him.

He can't hear the "ahs" and "ohs" and the praiseful words that greet him on his way to the starting post. He doesn't know that he's the fellow 25,000 people came out to see win—or else.

The panting bay beauty, with an ace jockey up, can't hear what's said of him when a 15 to 1 shot breezes in for the money and a hundred grand is lost by suckers who can't afford it.

He can't hear that he's just an old nag fit for a milk route; was always a phony anyway; and all of the venom spoken by lips which ten minutes before touted him next Derby winner.

It would be better if men who compete couldn't hear—better for them when they lose.

"Oh, well," you say, "this is just a writer trying to strum my heartstrings; men, like horses, can take it."

CAN THEY? I've seen the toughest little nuts that ever wore a glove curse the crowd that jeered them; then stagger dazed and beaten to the dressing room, break down and sob like a child.

Not because they lost, for they lost many times on the way up, but because their public had deserted them. They realized at last, that people cheer the winner, not the man.

I've seen football squads of strong young lads, with all of life before them, break into tears and cry like a roomful of panicky infants—at defeat.

I've seen seasoned pitchers in professional baseball choke and hide a tear when they lost a tough one; and had listened to the slurs of fans who yesterday carried them on their shoulders. I even saw Christy Mathewson do it.

And I heard Al Smith's husky voice tremble.

Isn't it strange that men, who are fair and kind to the underdog, love to kick a champion when he's down; or a favorite they expected to win.

• • •

EQUALLY UNJUST is man's failure to give credit for deeds he couldn't begin to accomplish himself. The rankest, most ridiculed performer in any contest can do his stuff better than could those who belittle him. He, too, has a heart, feelings and tears.

We Americans boast that we are a nation of good sports. I wonder.

More Than a House

By Truman Twill

It's unusual to feel sorrow about the death of a person who was neither well known nor a personal friend, but sadness came to the Twills with the news that the man who had built their house was dead. He was a real benefactor.

It continued to be his house even after he sold it. It bore the marks of his imagination and handiwork. He and his wife designed it, supervised its construction and improved it by their own handiwork. It was their first house and was to have been their last. They raised their family in it and left it only because circumstances made it necessary for them to move to another city.

They rented the house, but they were not pleased with the arrangement, though they were receiving a good rent and would have been justified in asking for more. But they were unable to give their house the care they thought it deserved. They lived too far away. Finally they concluded it would make them happier to sell it and transfer responsibility to a new owner.

On the day when final papers were to be signed for transfer of the title, they made their last visit to their house—that always would be their house, no matter who owned it. They walked about the yard and looked at the trees and shrubbery they had planted. They came inside to look for the last time at the familiar rooms where they had lived.

When they drove away not only their hearts were full, but the hearts of the new owners, too. Though it was our house now—our first house, as it happened—we hadn't planned it.

"Take good care of it won't you?" the real owners said before they drove away. And at that instant everything about the importance of owning property was made plain, all the meaning of putting down roots in the soil, all the significance of feeling a vested interest in one's community. More than a house had been sold that day.

The things that have happened to the house may not have met the approval of its original owners, but they were the unavoidable happenings in the life of a family which has had many occasions to be thankful for the prudence and foresight of those who built perhaps better than they knew. The scars of hard use have never been made by malice. And a bouquet on the mantel will commemorate a man who earned out a labor of love as well that to this day no one has taken proper [illegible] Twills have saved out from internal pressure to floors have saved in from overloading.

DEADLINE PASSED FOR VOTE RECOUNTS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Nov. 29—It's too late to ask recounts in close races in Ohio's Nov. 2 election, but politicians have until Dec. 5 to file contests in county common pleas courts.

That's the legal answer given today by Herbert S. Duncan, assistant secretary of state.

Duncan said the deadline for a recount request is noon, midnight Saturday. Contests must be filed after the official canvass.

If a candidate asks for a recount, he must deposit $10 for each precinct to be recounted, Duncan said.

To obtain a contest, the request must be filed separately in each of the state's 88 counties, signed by 25 electors or voters within each political county.

Common pleas courts then would demand posting of funds to cover the cost of the contest.

CHARGES TRUMAN ELECTION VICTORY "STOLEN"

MANCHESTER, N. H., Nov. 29—Publisher William Loeb of the New Hampshire Independent Manchester daily, charged in a front-page editorial today that President Truman's victory in the Nov. 2 election was stolen.

Loeb, who supported Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, said that "corrupt bosses of big city Democratic machines stole the key northern votes of Ohio, Illinois and California and the election for Mr. Truman."

He demanded recounts in those three states and said that a change of their electoral votes to Dewey would give the Republican candidate the presidency by one electoral vote.

Loeb based his claim on what he said was the report of security officers who watched Dewey votes in Cleveland counting President Truman's Ohio plurality to 9,600 votes.

"An honest recount of other big city votes in the three states would easily swing them to Dewey," he said.

PLANT

The plant was struck Aug. 13 by the CIO Mine, Mill and Smelters' union and attempted to reopen Nov. 8. Pickets prevented workers from returning, and the company obtained an injunction limiting pickets to five at the main gate. It opened again Nov. 15.

The company still refused to renew an expired contract with the union on grounds that its international officers had refused to sign non-Communist affidavits under the Taft-Hartley act.

Saturday's incident was the first on the picket line since then. Twenty-three men in all were taken in custody, but 19 were released after brief questioning.

The owner of the car, Carl Buckenberger, a machinist, filed charges against the other four.

Backlog of Applications

Due to the size of the course and the facilities of Harding High school, the program made almost at the close of the school year last spring is now being extended to the second semester of the current school year. It already has been filled and a large backlog of applications have been received from students seeking enrollment next year. This popularity indicates a broad expansion of the course may be needed. Popularity of driver training in the city of Marion but is equally so in 146 other schools throughout the state and is an estimated 40,000 to 50,000 high school students are taking similar courses in safe motoring. In keeping with the high standard of driving instruction provided by Mr. Smith is the instruction in traffic laws and driving regulations given by Corporal Tom Morgan, local commander of the state highway patrol, who personally teaches this phase of the course.

Although a number of physical tests are given the fledgling drivers now taking the course, an acute shortage of testing equipment now precludes pursuit of this manner of student testing. The Marion Junior Chamber of Commerce is conducting a drive to secure funds to provide equipment for testing driving students which will show the visual acuity, distance vision, angular vision, and other tests of the driving students' physical characteristics involved in driving ability.

Present testing equipment in use at Harding includes a device to test the reaction time of a student driver when confronted with a real or simulated emergency.

This device, which is mounted on the side of the dual-control training car, is controlled by the instructor. As the instructor orders the student to stop the car he pulls the trigger of the device, which causes it to make a chalk mark at the spot on the test course where the order to stop was given. The instant the student applies the brake the device automatically makes a second chalk mark on the roadway at the point where the student first applied the brakes. As soon as the car comes to a complete stop a third chalk mark is made. Tests have disclosed the maximum reaction time of most students to be three-fourths of a second, which means the car traveled 22 feet over the highway at 20 miles per hour between the time the student was ordered to stop and when he first touch the brakes. A car with four-wheel brakes in good condition should take 30 feet to come to a normal full stop on dry pavement after the brakes are applied. This indicates the car traveled 52 feet from the time the student driver was ordered to bring it to a stop until it was fully halted.

Contribution of Equipment

The specially marked dual-control instruction car is a 1949 deluxe Mercury sedan furnished and maintained by the Marion Lincoln Mercury Co., Inc. Dual controls for the car were supplied by the Marion Automobile club, as were decals marking the machine to advise other motorists a student driver is at the wheel.

The dual controls with which the car is equipped are what every nervous wife of a fast-driving husband has dreamed of. Their construction is solid and their design is simple, consisting of a pair of extension arms from the clutch and brake peddles to a set of brackets in the fire wall between the motor and the front floor boards of the car. Extension pedals attached to these arms from the car's regular brake and clutch pedals permit the instructor to apply either the brakes or disengage the clutch at will, bringing the car to a safe stop anytime the young student approaches a hazard too difficult for his experience to surmount. Through this control only the regular car steering wheel is needed and a second steering wheel is not used.

Do Harding High students learn to drive quickly? Do they grasp the fundamentals of safe motoring with ease?

Mr. Smith stated he has repeatedly been surprised by the ease with which students learn the fundamentals of safe driving. He has also been surprised at the ease with which students master the parking problem.

During the course of instruction each student receives a total of 12 hours of driving instruction, six hours behind the wheel and six hours in the front seat as the student driver's instructor. Each student receives instruction in both the driver's seat and as a passenger in the front seat, observing the student behind the wheel. As the course progresses, each student receives instruction in driving on streets of varying widths and conditions.

Advance To Busy Streets

In the next phase of the course students are introduced to Marion's congested traffic areas. By the time they can safely negotiate the streets of downtown Marion they are ready for the maximum, a test drive on route 23 south of Marion, a required item in the course.

Last but not least the students are taught the private business of properly parking a car. The parking test is the final one of the course and is used to meet the most requirements of the course is one of the toughest.

To pass the parking test a student must park the car parallel to the curb and six inches from it between two other parked cars without touching any of the car wheels against the curb or touching bumpers with either the car ahead or to the rear of the parking place.

Harding High school pupils who are attending the first semester of the driving course are George Holt, Marlene Jolliff, Marguerite Stewart, Virginia Price, Robert Jones, Freda Coffey, Betty Bell, Robert Yazel, Harriet Alexake, Elfrieda Rech, William Ford, Don Davenport, Mary Lusk, Marlene Herbst, Richard James, Ellen Honaker, Mary Lou Faulkner, Marylyn Green, Ruth Ellen Clutter, Salley Seckel, John Waddle, Warren Hall, John Stevens, Robert Beaver, and John Eddy.

The Harding High driving course, which has been lauded by city officials and school officials as one of the most outstanding in the state, is first semester's period.

SCENE OF CENTRAL CHINA BATTLE SHIFTS

By The Associated Press

NANKING, Nov. 29—The critical battle for central China appeared today to be shifting from Suchow to the very approaches of the Chinese capital.

It was learned reliably that the estimated 250,000 Nationalist troops at Suchow, defense bastion for Nanking, have been ordered to withdraw eastward to engage the main Chinese Communist forces.

The outcome of the entire battle for Nanking may depend on the ability of the Suchow garrison to make the withdrawal. The Reds are concentrating in the areas of Sunsien and Pengpu, rail cities on Nanking's approaches.

There has been no indication that the withdrawal order is being carried out—as yet—although it was made several days ago. Suchow still is getting supplies by planes, which are taking out wounded.

The battle for Suchow has raged three weeks. Its abandonment would indicate that the government regards as more critical the developing struggle in the 211 miles between here and Suchow. Earlier reports from the fronts indicated that the Communists have left secondary troops to engage Nationalists within the Suchow perimeter.

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., Nov. 29 — The Strategic Air Command of the United States Air Force has selected Dayton as the target for the greatest mass-bombing exercises in peacetime history, officials of Wright-Patterson Air Force base announced today.

Beginning this week, SAC bombers from every section of the nation will converge on Dayton for the exercises.

For the next 60 days, the city's main downtown intersection, Main and Third streets, will be the target of make-believe 1,000-pound bombs, Air Force officials said.

MAYOR KID CANADAY THROWS IN TOWEL

By The Associated Press

POMEROY, O., Nov. 29—Democratic Kayo Kid Canaday threw in the towel today. He resigned as mayor of Pomeroy.

The former pugilistic [illegible] charges with misconduct by four Pomeroy city councilmen and was suspended by Gov. Thomas J. Herbert—making his resignation as council president Sidney Spencer.

"I hereby tender to the village council my resignation as mayor to become effective immediately," Canaday wrote. "The increased demands of my private business make it imperative that I devote my full time to it."

My action in no manner is to the ridiculous charges which an ill-advised minority of the village council has filed against me.

"I am motivated solely by a desire to give again to my family and my business the attention which my duties as mayor have deprived them of in the last 11 months."

"Kayo Kid" Canaday fought 200 professional fights back in the 1920s and laid claim to the welterweight championship of West Virginia. He brought the same punch to politics.

In a letter attached to a copy of his resignation sent Governor Herbert he wrote:

"I am glad that my action thereby relieves you of one of the burdens of your office, to wit: the duty of conducting a hearing on the ridiculous charges of misconduct brought by certain ill-advised members of my council.

STRIKE VOTE TAKEN BY RAIL ENGINEERS

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 29—A strike vote is being taken by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers on nearly a score of western railroads.

The brotherhood is demanding that a third man be added to the operating crews of multiple unit diesel engines on these roads. The engines are used in both passenger and freight service.

Grand Chief Engineer Alvanley Johnston said "safety is a factor in our demand."

At present one engineer and one fireman compose the crew. The union wants another engineer added.

"Another engineer is needed to look after the machinery in the back end while the first engineer operates the controls," Johnston said last night.

Percy Shields, first assistant grand chief engineer, said workers on 16 or 17 roads would ballot. He said he could not estimate the number of men involved until returns are received. Johnston said the Santa Fe was one of the roads, and that voting might not be completed for three weeks. After that, a strike date would be set.

SENDS BIG 4 NEW BERLIN FORMULA

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Nov. 29 — Argentine foreign minister Juan A. Bramuglia said today he had sent to the Big Four powers his new set formula for settling the Berlin blockade crisis.

Argentine sources said the plan covers three points:

1. Bramuglia as November president of the security council, would appoint an expert commission to study the Berlin currency issue.

2. The security council would recommend lifting the Berlin blockade in full implementation with the introduction of the Soviet mark as the German city's sole currency in accord with the commission's finding.

3. An explanatory communication by Bramuglia on behalf of the six smaller powers on the council, which are pressing for the compromise.

Argentines said the timing of the whole proposal was not yet fixed definitely. It is possible that Dec. 30 would be the deadline as the expert commission's goal, it was said.

Russia blockaded Berlin in June after the western powers put their reformed currency in the city. Russia vetoed a previous neutral powers attempt to compromise the issue.

POLICE AWAIT SUIT VERDICT

Judge Rutherford Expected To Rule in Pay Action This Week.

City police are awaiting the answer to their $18,191 back pay [illegible] completed Saturday of the [illegible] of the suit of Clyde Harden and 15 others before Judge Leland Rutherford of Mt. Gilead in common pleas court here.

Attorneys for the [illegible] men filed their [illegible] of the case shortly after noon and counsel for the city rested before 1 p. m. Testimony on behalf of the city was virtually the same as that in defense of the firemen's back pay suit and subsequently entered into the record by stipulation without the appearance of defense witnesses on the stand.

The case was finished by 1 p. m. after a day and a half in court as compared to the four and a half days taken for the similar suit of the firemen and also before Judge Rutherford.

Immediate decision in the case was withheld by the court but attorneys expect a written opinion will be filed here this week by the Morrow county common pleas judge. In the case of the firemen, his decision was made from the bench the day following completion of the case and it is possible that he will render his opinion in this case from the bench also, in the presence of the litigants.

As the case neared conclusion Saturday, Judge Rutherford took time out to temporarily reopen the firemen's case for the inclusion of further evidence concerning city expenditures during 1932 made in payment of 1931 salaries. Similar figures had been submitted in the police case and in interests of completing the record in the firemen's case, the figures pertaining to the firemen were included. The motion to reopen the case was the court's.
